Political and Social Tyranny in the Cotton States—Opinion of a Georgia Magistrate.

A Savannah correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune says:

Now, let me tell you, as illustrating better than anything else I can write, what a planter of more than average wealth said to me the other day, as we walked up and down the platform of a railway station, waiting for the arrival of the junction train. You must bear in mind that he was a slaveholder, Southern by birth, by education, and in feeling, hating the republican party with a terrible bitterness, calling them all abolitionists, and Mr. Hamlin "a free ne-gro;" he was a man of considerable importance in his own neighborhood, and, as I learned from the salutation of an acquaintance, a magistrate also. From his conversation in the cars I had discovered, however, that he was not a rabid secession-ist, if in favor of secession at all. As we waited, one of the noisy disunionists, to be seen anywhere, was haranguing a knot of people, roaring for war, and cursing the administration heartily; when we had reached the other end of the platform, and were alone, my companion said, quietly enough, but with a sort of weary irony That is a fair specimen of the teachers of the southern people; no other teachers of the southern people; no other teachers are now allowed. We have a good deal changed, lately; I would not have believed, ten years ago, that the time would ever come when I couldn't stand up in Georgia and say what I thought it best to say, at least free from personal peril, and that such a man as that yonder would ever represent the class which entirely controls the shifting people. I have certain decided opinions upon the policy of immediate secession, or secession at any time. I have the right to hold such opinions; it is my duty to hold some decided views, situated as I am in my county. But I cannot come out openly, loudly, holdly, in defense of my opinions, with the desire to spread them.— I should be injured in my property—per-baps, probably indeed, in my own person; yes, I am ashamed to say, I believe I should be mobbed, that my buildings would be burned, and that I should be forced to leave the state. For, when a man once falls under the hand of the mob, though they only threaten him to day, they will doubtless return to morrow and burn his property, and the next day they will bring a rope with them, looking out along the way for a convenient tree with a strong not exaggerate the danger of making your opinions known?". Hereplied: "I do not exaggerate, I know what I am talking about. I am even now, at home, regarded with suspicion, because my views are well known and some of my oldest acquaintances are shy of me. This is not so much because they fear the present consequences of ac-knowledging they know me, but they say it may prejudice them by and by." "How is that?" "Why, I can't tell you better than to repeat what one of the fastest secessionists said the other day about Stephens:

'Never mind,' said he. 'When the state goes out, and we are on our own hook, these follows have got to walk straight and keep quiet, or they'll walk into trouble." I spoke then of the approaching election of delegates, asking if the freedom of the ballot was not allowed. He replied that he helieved men were permitted to vote for whom they choose to vote; but the trouble was to have such candidates put up as they wanted to vote for. "See here," said he, tet us suppose we have a meeting to nominate candidates. There are to be resolu could oppose them with safety. "It is all very well to talk about boldness; but a mob is a mob, and no honor-comes from maltreatment at their bands. So, don't you see we might about as well be forbidden to vote for whom we please as to be forbidden to nominate or advocate the nomination of whom we please? I have the right to vote for A. B. or C. on the 2d of January, if I choose; but neither of them is a candidate, and I am not allowed, a week before the 2d, to make a speech in favor of either of them." I asked my com-panion what would be the result of this state of things after the state bad seceded. His reply deserves to be remembered. He said, "the result will be a tremendous emigration to the free states."

Feb. 17th and 18th: Whitewater, Feb. 14th; Racine, Feb. 11th.

Dr. Price devotes all of his time to the cure of Serofula, Rhenmatism, 5its, Norvous Maladies, Female Difficulties, Consumption, Throat, Liver, Heart, and all Chronic diseases.

Our practice of seventeen years standing differs from all others, founded on truth, no trilling with human existence, sucrificing life by oxperiments. We know on examination the cause of disease and remedies needed to remove it, not by guessing but by knowledge. No poisons or hards medicines to ruin the constitution, no making sick to make well, tearing down to build up, giving encouragement without a prospect, no abandoning business or starving, nor coming once never to be seen again. We are regular every few weeks mour visits, frank in our opinions, honest in our dealings, and moderate in our charges. We invite Investigation, claim not to know everything, or to once everybody, but do claim to reason and common sense, and to curre seven out of ten pronounced incurable. We respectfully request those who have tried this respectable physician, that selentific dector, boasted and advertised medicines and docrors till wern out and discouraged, to call upon us. It costs nothing, as consultation is free. dec3ldaw

Slavery Compromises.

One of the panaceas of the Madison Patriot to cure the ills which afflict the country, is a national convention to amend the constitution. It thinks that if the compromises which it proposes, or some of them, were put into the constitution, then there would be a wall so high that neither congress nor the devil could get over it. Perhaps not, but we think the supreme court could. There is nothing which that branch of our government cannot do, after the Dred Scott opinion. What the devil cannot do, Judge Taney can accomplish. It papers cost last year $3,153; about one would be impossible for his Satanic majes. ty to take the heaven-born principle of supplied under the proposed law. liberty from among the attributes of humanity, but Judge Taney can wrest every right from a whole race. No sane, sensible man can find it anywhere set down in our national constitution that a man shall be a by which banks shall redeem their circulachattel; but Taney says it is there, coupled | tion at central points at a reasonable rate of with the duty on the part of the government discount. Adopted. to protect the owner in that kind of property. There is nothing that a court cannot do, if you give it the unchecked power to construe the constitution for the whole government, and for every individual in the nation. If the maker of the court is a slave oligarchy, its decisions will be in accordance with the power which created it, and vice versa. Its sentiments are colored and guided by public opinion, the same as to any amendment to the constitution which any other branch of the government, though | shall recognize slavery. Laid over. more slowly. The proposition for a national convention to amend the constitution must be presented by two-thirds of the ries, passed the assembly. Adjourned. states; and congress has nothing to do with it until they have acted. It is not at all probable that that number will unite in such a call; and if they did, and should adopt the Crittenden proposition or something like it, then three-fourths of the states must approve of it. Certainly those who desire to amend the constitution in the way proposed, can have no reasonable hope of effecting their object.

So it comes at last to this point that no compromises enacted by congress, nor any of the amendments of the constitution by national convention can be successful in saving the country from the peril which southern traitors have surrounded it. And for this simple reason-no congress and no convention can change public opinion in the north so that the masses of the people will favor slavery. The secession leaders, Toombs, Iverson, Keitt, etc., insist that northern public sentiment must be changed before there will be peace. Reagan, of Texas, declared in the house on Saturday, that in addition to this, the republican party must be dissolved! These are the terms demanded, and if refused the Union is to be dissolved.

accede to this ultimatum. We cannot change our opinions even if we wouldthey are convictions. But if there are reasonable men in the south who are willing tendance upon the senate. to abide by the constitution as it is, and as it was administered by Jefferson and Madison, we are not averse to explanations to house has failed-ayes 57, noes 92. them of the purposes of the republican party. We object to the present fugitive slave law because it favors kidnapping and demands the personal exertions of the people of the free states in the capture of slaves-let congress modify this law and the states will modify the personal liberty

As to the territories, nothing can be done have not a majority in either house. The south is in no danger in this respect. We are in favor of letting that question alone for the present; the future can take care of Nothing more than this can be done by the republicans to save the people of the south from their own madness - except to there are no outstanding liabilities, or ungive them time for cool reflection—and we paid claims; and we have ample means in are in favor of that. People cannot be saved from ruin unless they help themselves -we therefore invite the south to do so by returning to their allegiance to the government they helped to form, and by allowing reason to control their actions, rather than

The governor of Georgia sent to the state convention, this morning, the threatening resolutions adopted by the legislature of New York on the 11th. After the resolutions had been read, Mr. Toombs offered Resolved, unanimously, as a response to the resolutions of the legislature of New York, that this convention highly approves of the energetic and patriotic conduct of the governor of Georgia in taking possession of Fort Pulaski by the Ga. troops.

Washington, Jan. 21. The minority report from the committee of 33, signed by Taylor of La., Phillips of Mo., Rush of Ark., Whitley of Del., and Winslow of N. C., embraces in substance the following:

The report says the present difficulties can only be remedied by amendments to the constitution, and suggests that the amendments proposed in the Crittenden resolution, if adopted, would restore tranquili ty to the country, and place the Union on such a foundation that it could never be shaken. Those amendments, the committee asserts, would not in reality change the constitution.

They would only have the effect of restoring it by the added provisions of what t was in point of fact on the day of its adoption, through the operation of the cir-cumstances which then surrounded it and which erected the barriers against the pres ent sectional contest as constitutional provisions would now. If a constitutional majority cannot be united in support of the Crittenden resolution, or the substance of them, then a dissolution of the Union is in evitable.

The report recommends that steps be taken for calling a convention of the states, with a view of peaceful separation, by providing for a partition of the property United States, settling terms by which the commercial intercourse between the separated states shall be conducted, and making s permanent arrangement with respect to the navigation of the Mississippi river.

The report gives what the signers of it consider a full account of the rise and progress of the slavery agitation, which produced the existing difficulties.

vere introduced, and were found to answer a very good purpose, in preventing the hoops and tapes from separating; but in spite of all the manifold applications of Gius, Gutta-Percha, &c., the tapes would slip on the steels, and as many have experienced, would very frequently all slip to one place, causing great annoyance and sometimes danger to the wearer.

Knotted Skirts

came next in order. They were found to have the same objections as the woven, only in a less degree.

The troubles and vexations skirt wenters sustained through all these trials caused many to wish for the day when Hooped Skirts would go out of fashion, but the introduction of

has given new hope to the wearer; for after a thorough trial of a senson it has proved to be the only mode that can be relied upon—the braid in the straps being so intervoven with the covering of the steel, that it is impossible for it to move from its place, as the Woven and Knotted Skirts do; and the sewing of the braid through itself, after passing around the steel, prevents all possibility of the steel getting loose from it, as the Sewed and Clasped Skirts do. It in fact overcomes every objection heretofore rulsed against the various plans used.

A Mammoth War Steamer---Launch of the Warrior.

The formidable iron-cased frigate Warrior, the largest man-of war ever built, and more than 1,500 tons larger than the largest vessel in the world, after the Great Eastern, was safely launched into the Thames on the There was some difficulty at the launch. The intense frost of the previous night had, in fact, frozen her down to the ways" so firmly that nothing would move her. Hydraulic presses, which are always kept fixed and ready in case of such contretemps, were worked and pumped to the utmost they could bear, a heavy gun was fired on her upper deck to start her by concussion, but in vain; she only moved slow-ly for a few inches, when the frozen grease on the slips brought her up again fast as ever. The tide was at its height, and it was evident that if she did not start in a few minutes she would not be launched till the next spring tides. A hawser was made fast to a powerful tug, hundreds of hammers made the "ways" vibrate, while the men on board ran from side to side to start her, but all to no purpose. At last two other tugs came to the assistance of the first, and fortunately their united efforts were success-The Warrior moved a little slowly, then stopped, then started again, and gain-ing momentum as she descended, slid rapidly down into the water, and was safely affoat just as the tide began to fall.

The Warrior is considered in England to be a rival to the famous French war-ship LaGloire. When in sea-going trim her main deck portsills will be about 81 feet from the water, and in this respect she pos sesses an immense advantage over LaGloire, whose ports are only 5 feet 9 inches-much too near the water to make her guns of any use in a sea way. In point of speed, also, the Warrior will probably be unrivaled.— Among other improvements the Warrior will inaugurate is one on the present cumbrous and awkward ship's gun carriage.

Those which will be furnished to her have the stands fixed, the gun running backward and forwards in a slide, with a pivot for training the gun fore or aft placed about the centre of the gun. The advantage of this is that it will allow the present wide port holes to be reduced to half their width, without at all interfering with the range of the gun fore and aft. Thus the port holes of the Warrior will be three feet seven inches high, and only two wide, instead of four -a reduction which, of course, diminishes by one-half the chance of a shot or shell entering the aperture. For the space of nearly two feet, also, all round the ports, the armor plates are seven inches thick.

The walls of the Warrior are of five inch iron plates, backed by twenty inches of solid teak, which Mr. Whitworth, the celebrated artillery-man, deems invulnerable.

The work of fitting the Warrior with the rest of her plates and engines will soon go on as rapidly as possible in the Victoria dock, whence she will start at the end of May or beginning of June, for Portsmouth, to be masted.

MAJOR ANDERSON AND GOV. PICKENS .-As Major Anderson's correspondence with Gov. Pickens has been subjected to some comments, it is proper, says a Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, that certain important facts should be known to the public. In consequence of his communication being cut off, he had no means of correspondence with the war department, to know its purposes or convey his own views, except by accidental and unfrequent opportunities. It was decided after his removal to Fort Sumpter, and the departure of the South Carolina commissioners, to send reinforcements, and four companies of artillery, from Fort Monroe, were ordered to the Brooklyn for that purpose. These orders were afterward countermanded, and Major Anderson's brother carried him the intelligence of that decision. Regarding it velvet and Straw, made of the as conclusive, he could not and did not expect to be reinforced. He had no knowledge whatever concerning the movements of the Star of the West, or of her transports. The first intimation that reached him was the booming of cannon from Mor-ris Island and Fort Moultrie. When he saw the national flag hoisted at her mast head, and heard the firing repeated, his batteries facing Fort Moultrie and the ship channel were unmasked, manned, and the gunners stationed with matches in their hands, waiting the signal to fire. The steamer turned and put to sea, and thus the bloody reckoning was averted. This statement will explain the general terms of his first letter to Governor Pickens concerning the firing up-on the flag, as he had none of the information concerning the steamer which was familiar to everybody else. Had he known her mission, Fort Moultrie would have been

The Heanacht is the favorite sign by which nature makes known any deviation whatever from the natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be looked on as a satignard intended to give notice of disease which might otherwise scenge attention, till too late to be temedied; and its indications should never be neglected. Headaches may be classified under two names, viz: Symptomstic and idiopathic. Symptomatic headache is exceedingly common and is the precursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplaxy, tout, kheumatism and all fibrila diseases. In its nervous form it is sympathetic of disease of the stomaconstituting sich headache, of worms, constipation and other disorders of the bowds, as well as renal and utterine affections. Diseases of the heart are very frequently needed with headaches; Anemia and plethora trea disaffections which frequently occasion headache, Idiopathic headache is olso very common, boing usually distinguished by the name of nervous headache, sometimes contine on a suidendy in a state of concently sound pathic headache is also very common, being usually distinguished by the name of nervous headache, sometimes coming on audienly in a state of apparently sound leath and prostrating at once the mental and physical neegies, and in other instances it comes on slawly, heralded by depression of spirits or accritive of temperable most instances the pair. Is in the front of the head, over one or both eyes, and solutions provoking voniting; under this class may also be named Neuralgia. For the treatment of either class of headache the Cephalic Pills have been found a sure and safe remedy, relieving the most scare pairs in a few infuncts, and by its subtle power eradicating the diseases of which headache is the unerring tudex.

Banour.—Missus wants you to send her a box of Cephalic (due, no, a bottle of prepared Pills,—but Ymthinking that's not just it neither; but perhaps ye'll be after knowing what is is, Yesee sho's night dead and gone with the sick headache, and wants some more of gone with the sick headache, and wants some more of that same as relaived her before. Druggit.—You taust mean Spalding's Cephalic Pills. Bridget.—Och! sure now and you've sed it, here's the quarter and give me the pills and dont be all day about is alther.

Constipation or Costiveness.

No one of the "many ills deals is her to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as costiveness. Often originating in carelessness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of rool little consequence to exerte anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and companion of many of the most faul and angerous diseases, and unless early oradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which continuess is the usual attouchant are Hendache, Colic, likeumatism, Foul Breath, Files and others of like insture, while a long train of fright diseases such as Malignaut Fevers, Aboeses, Dysentary, Diarrheas, Dyspepsin, Aponiusy, Epilepsy, Paralysis, Hysteria, Hypochondriasis, Melaucholy and Insanity, first indicate their presence in the system by tils alterning symptom. Not unfrequently the diseases named originate in Constipation, but take on an independent existence unless the "cause is eradicated in uncarly stage. From all these considerations it follows arly stage. From all these considerations it follow early stage. From an tress considerations to notwo-that the disorder should receive immediate attention whenever it occurs, and no person should neglect to get a box of Cephalic Pills on the first appearance of the complaint, as their timely use will expel the insiduous approaches of disease and desirey this dangerous for to burnan life.

A Real Blessing.

Physician.—Well, Mrs. Jones, how is your headache? Likes, Jones.—Gone! Doctor, all gone! the pill you sent cured me in just twenty minutes, and I wish you would send more so that I can have them heady.

Physician.—You can get them at any Bruggleis.—Call for Cophalic Fills, I and they never fall, and I recommend them in all cases of headache.

Mrs. Jones.—I shall send for a box directly, and shall tell all my suffering friends for they are a real blessing.

Twenty Millions of Dollars Saved.—Mr. Spalding has sold two millions of bettles of his celebrated Prepared Glua and it is estimated that each bottle saves at least ten deliars worth of broken furniture, thus making an aggregate of twenty millions of deliars reclaimed from total loss by this valuable invention. Having made his glue a household word, he now proposes to do the world still greater service by curing all the aching heads with his Cephalic Pills, and if they are as good as his glue, headache will soon vanish away like snow in July.

AN OVER EXCITEMENT, and the mental care and anx-FOVER EXCITEMENT, and the mental care authora-iety incident to close attention to business or study, are among the numerous causes of nervous headache. The disordered state of mind and body incident to this dis-tressing complaint is a fatal blow to all energy and am-bition. Sufferers by this disorder can always obtain speedy relief from these distressing attacks, by using one of the Caphalle Pills whenever the symptoms ap-pear. It quiets the overtasked brain, and soothes the strained and larring nerves, and relayes the Instituted pear. It quiets the overtasked brain, and account strained and jarring nerves, and relaxes the tension of strained and jarring nerves accommonies and aggravate the stomach which always accompanies and aggravates the disordered condition of the brain.

FACT WORTH KNOWING.—Spudding's Cephalic Pills'are a certain cure for Sick Headache, Biffous Headache, Nervous Headache, Costiveness and General Debility.

GREAT DISCOVERY.—Among the most important of all the great medical discoveries of this age may be considered the system of vaccination for protection from Small Pox. the Cophalic Pili for relief of headache, and the use of Quinine for the prevention of fevers, either of which is a sure specific, whose benefits will be experienced by suffering humanity long after their discoversions of the proportion.

FEF Did you ever have the sick headache? Do you remainter the throbbing temples, the fevered brow, the leathing and disgust at the sight of food. How totally unit you were for pleasure, conversation or study. One of the Cephalic Pills would have relieved you from all the suffering which you then experienced. For this and other purposes you should always have a box of them on hand to use as occasion requires.

By the use of these pills the periodic attacks of Norrous or Sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained. They seldom fail in removing Nuusea and Headache to which females are so subject. They act gently upon the bowels,-remaring thetire

For Literary Men, Nudents, delicate females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxtive, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILES are the result of long invest.

igation and carefully conducted experiments, having near in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the zionach.

They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with perfect fafety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to chil-BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!
